Eye-catchers were the 2 white yachts (with blue airbrush sprayed whales, dolphins porpoises, a swordfish, a marlin, etc. as decoration). They were painted by the famous marine artist Wyland. Each boat side had its own motive. Another eye-catching were the deep-blue sails. The yachts were built in Hawaii. Training was also there for reasons of cost, since similar wind conditions prevail as in Auckland. Skipper became John Kolius, who put as early as in the defender elimination races of the NYYC of 1983, his opponent Dennis Conner on his new Liberty under high pressure. Kolius was racing the already 10 years old Courageous. As a financially weak team, Aloha Racing reached in the LVC 2000 the 9th ranking out of 11.) (Link with Additional Info: https://www.americas-cup-history.at/english/usa%2054%20abracad.htm)
